

Terms & Conditions from Victor & Hazel Patterson
t/a victorpatterson.com

IMPORTANT: The copyright of images downloaded from our website or acquired by any other means are not for sale. Only a licence to publish, subject to the terms and conditions below, is on offer. No image supplied by us may be passed to a third party without our prior written permission. Our default licence, unless agreed otherwise in writing, is for single use on a specified date in a specified publication.

A publication in this context may be a newspaper, magazine, book, brochure, television program, event program, website or CD-ROM. It is not a combination of two or more i.e. a newspaper and its website. In the context of this agreement a photograph may be a print, a negative, a transparency or a digital version of any of these.

In the case of newspapers and magazines the fee agreed permits the image's use in a single downloadable version of that day's, week's, month's or year's edition to a computer, a tablet or ebook device, of what is essentially a facsimile of the printed edition. It does not include website use for which a separate fee and conditions are applicable.

In the case of television stations a fee is chargeable for each and every use in a bulletin or programme unless agreed otherwise in a written contract. Any additional use of a photograph on a broadcasters's website will be chargeable separately.

In the case of photographs supplied to television broadcasters or to companies providing programmes for television stations for transmission by radio, cable or online the images supplied must be embedded within the program in a video format only. For still photographs used within a program made for television the fee agreed will be strictly for the rights stated in our invoice.

All fees should be agreed in writing by letter or email in advance if no written agreement is already in existence between ourselves and the prospective publisher. Our photographs are for editorial use only. Model and property release forms are not available for any of our photographs.

In print media visible acknowledgement of copyright immediately adjacent to images is obligatory i.e. © Victor Patterson. Alternatively it may be a watermark within the image. We reserve all legal rights as well as normal copyright for all our photographs. Failure to acknowledge copyright will incur a doubling of the agreed fee,

Where a photograph is used online acknowledgement of copyright, i.e. a watermark © Victor Patterson is obligatory. A watermark is positioned within the perimeter of the image.

Where we are commissioned to take photographs the copyright will belong to us unless agreed otherwise in advance in writing.

A condition of use is that I am advised promptly in writing (letter or email) of every usage, initial and subsequent. The use of any photograph without prior agreement will be interpreted as full acceptance by the publisher of our terms and conditions. If the publisher of a photograph fails to advise us within 30 days of its use or subsequent re-use a 100% surcharge on the normal fee will apply.

The above terms and conditions are solely intended to protect us against misuse and/or unlawful use of our photographs. If any of the above terms and conditions cause you a difficulty please speak to us. In the case of regular users I am happy to discuss mutually acceptable terms & conditions.

The right of Victor Patterson (or the named photographer) to be identified as the author is asserted in accordance with The Copyright Designs And Patents Act (1988). All moral rights are asserted.
